He reminded those yet to submit to do so quickly.

II.

- D. Unfinished Business-

Khanh reported that rather than assign AB1400 to a committee for review and evaluation he decided to call HCD to do some preliminary research. He spoke to Doug Hensel, at (916) 327-2831, who indicated that a Building Department's main role under this bill would be to respond to complaints regarding a lack of universal accessibility design options and that no requirement under the law to ensure that such a list of options is provided to potential buyers.

- E. New Business-

Khanh discussed the Chapter's Reasonable Tolerances Document that was online but later removed. He suggested postponing discussion until Jay Elbettar was in attendance as it was he who wished to review the circumstances of its placement and later removal from the chapter webpage. Despite Khanh's suggestion, there was a short discussion in which Jim Martin said he recollected that at a previous meeting it was decided to remove the document but maintain some sort of reference to the document. No action was decided.

F. Communications

Henry Hwang announced that the CALBO president has extended the application period for committee membership until the end of March.

Jim Martin reported that the CALBO ABM Golf Tournament was a success and that this was at least due in part to the partnership with the Building Horizons group which is in the business of training young people in construction trades. Jim suggested that at some future time the chapter consider partnering with this group.

Dan Van Dorpe commented about BITA, The Building Industry Technology Academy which exists to increase awareness of the diverse career paths available within the construction industry to students. It also introduces participants to the necessary skills, training, knowledge and contact with industry professionals required to pursue careers in the construction industry. Dan suggested that members see him for additional information.

Don Godfrey discussed his practice of using interns in his building department and offered his assistance to anyone wishing to design a similar program in their jurisdiction.
