IAPMO-ES Director Amir Zamanian, PE, is uniquely qualified to recognize the wide variety of client needs because he has spent a considerable amount of time on his clients' side of the counter. In more than 15 years in the field, Zamanian has participated in a wide variety of projects as a designer, engineer and contractor. He has designed bridges, storm water control improvements and roadways. As a resident engineer, he's ensured conformance with contract documents for bridges, storm water control and sound wall projects. And as a contractor, he has helmed construction projects including roadways, bridges, signs, catch basins and reinforced concrete box culverts.

A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh with a BS in Civil Engineering, Zamanian achieved his Masters in Structural Engineering from the University of California, Berkeley. Prior to joining IAPMO, Zamanian held positions within the California Department of Transportation, a number of large public works contracting and engineering firms and the Department of Capital Projects for the country of Allegheny, Penn. Zamanian's wealth of training and experience brokers a crystal clear line of communication with clients, who will find him to be a true peer with an empathetic understanding of their needs and concerns.

ICC-ES Speaker: John Nosse, president emeritus of ICC Evaluation Service, Inc. (ICC-ES), is a California registered structural, civil, and fire-protection engineer and a civil engineering graduate of the University of Hawaii. After five years with the City of Los Angeles Building & Safety Dept. and five with two Los Angeles-area engineering firms, he joined the International Conference of Building Officials (ICBO) in 1965 as Chief Plan Check Engineer. During this period, he was also involved in the UBC code change process and ICBO educational efforts. In 1972, he was transferred to product evaluation work. He was the first and only president of ICBO Evaluation Service and also the first president of ICC-ES. As ICC-ES's first president, he oversaw the transition of four different evaluation services, doing work under four building codes, into one service addressing the family of International Codes.

Mark Johnson, newly appointed president.

Mr. Nosse became ICC-ES president emeritus in May 2009, and continues to work at ICC-ES, assisting in the transition of Mark Johnson.
